

Jeffrey Epstein

Ghislaine Maxwell

Numerous People of Influence
Preteen Girls

THE RUSE

Produced for the State of Israel by the Mossad. Scripting and storyline by the Political Action and Liason Department. Production on location by Metsada.

Sholom

As a nation we are only .2 percent of the world population, yet our people account for 27 percent of the Nobel physics laureates, 31 percent of the medicine laureates, 21 percent of Ivy League students, 22 percent of all Nobel Prizes, 37 percent of the Academy Award-winning directors, 38 percent of leading philanthropists, and 51 percent of the Pulitzer Prize winners for nonfiction. Regardless of the many contributions people of Jewish birth make to the world, throughout history we have had to constantly struggle to protect ourselves from the ravages of anti-Semitism and our right to defend the land long promised to us. We must be eternally vigilant.

Today we celebrate one achievement of the many brilliant Jewish minds directing the arts, media and movies in Hollywood. They crafted one of the most compelling nets of compromise in our long and storied history of influence and control of a foreign state. The movie "The Sting" provides an example of the anatomy of such an operation. "The Ruse" is an adaption of that concept updated for modern times, and is testament to our skills in complex storytelling and narrative.

A disturbing rise in populism throughout the world, at least partially in response to the greater divide among those who have and those who have not, demands action. Those individuals and institutions that have been most successful at rising with the tide, in many cases in which our people are prominent, portends the possibility of increased activity against those who excel worldwide.

To ensure we maintain a strong position of influence globally it is necessary that we not only maintain the ability to directly influence the United States, the most powerful military nation on earth, but also should populism give rise to changes in positions of leadership, that we have continuous "leverage" throughout government and the courts that goes far beyond mere expressions of support.

The art of covert compromise is a multifaceted strategy that in the past involved financial contributions, physical coercion, sexual entanglement; covert destruction of assets, elimination of undesirable elements; all from a long list limited only by the imagination of the agency involved. Today however increased scrutiny of banking and financial transactions, total surveillance of all communications with no safe haven of privacy, and with nearly all forms of sexual activity gaining acceptance to the point such activity barely receives attention or causes a strong defensive reaction to its criticism, the options to obtain leverage over target assets has been somewhat curtailed. In addition, the Internet has made it possible to instantly publicize discovery of all but the most closely guarded of secrets, increasing the risk and cost of defending against disclosure of covert operations.

The Ruse must never be exposed for what it is and those compromised must never realize they were victims of a covert action. Rather, they must believe they themselves were to blame being taken in by a bad actor and that through our friendship and our people in the right places we offer the combination of skills and influence over the courts required to prevent permanent damage to their reputations and careers.

Even with such careful planning, additional insurance is prudent. Protecting Israel never can be trusted solely to promises. There has to be whatever leverage can be obtained, and in the case of The Ruse it came in the form of the most compromising of material which if made public is sufficient to destroy entire careers and make one a pariah in their own society.

The Setup

A story was crafted that a brilliant and gifted high school teacher named Jeffrey Epstein rose from nothing overnight to become a highly secretive investment manager providing investment services to clients investing $1 billion in cash and up. The $1 billion minimum investment threshold was selected to limit the people that might even consider Jeffrey Epstein's counsel to a mere handful at most. This prevented investigation and questioning of Mr. Epstein's investment skills. The minimum $1 billion investment requirement also came with a further condition that Mr. Epstein be given full power of attorney and control over the client's money, to use the money as he saw fit without interference. This onerous condition was also intended to limit applicants and questions. The implication of course also was that if Mr. Epstein's clients had that much disposable wealth to invest they would also be extremely secretive about their affairs and should Mr. Epstein answer any question about his clients it would undermine everyone's trust in him. It was therefore not necessary for there to be any clients for The Ruse to work.

On the advice of PALD, working with one of our acclaimed writers, the brilliant Mr. Epstein was made out to be a prodigy, who hob nobs with the leading minds in academia, asking brilliant questions and posing astounding theories. We arranged for a series of donations to leading academic institutions in areas of study Israel had interest and committed a number of the most esteemed and citizens of Israel to support suggestions Mr. Epstein genius. This made his appeal to our targets easier and moreover, his alleged brilliance put him in a that few could evaluate with in-depth discussion. Epstein was thoroughly briefed on carrying on conversations in the areas of deemed interest. Mr. was portrayed as having the social appeal of a day Gatsby with the mind of an Einstein, a believable fairy tale many would want to embrace chutzpah. He also visually resembles our Paul Newman, capturing the allure of the misfit rebel.

trusted
is a
to sell league
Mr.
Epstein modern with his

Mr. Epstein was provided with homes in New York, Palm Beach, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico and Paris, France. All of these homes are in locations frequented by the targets for The Ruse and properties were selected to ensure they would appreciate in value, to reduce the cost of The Ruse and potentially profitable financially as well as politically.

No billionaire would be complete without a fleet of private planes including a Gulfstream IV, a helicopter, and a Boeing 727 with a trading room. No money was spared providing the planes or all of the other trappings of wealth.

The Mossad wired these properties and planes with the most sophisticated audio and video recording devices our Israeli scientists were capable of making. No whisper went unheard nor was any change of expression unrecorded. As you would undoubtedly expect from our best people, the clarity of captured audio and video is astounding. All of the spaces Mr. Epstein used for his private meetings were blanketed with sensors recording extensive vital data. The brilliant Mr. Epstein and his guests were ensconced in a behavioral laboratory with everything captured and recorded.

The Hook

Mr. Epstein was portrayed as having a fascination with younger women. His assistant, a former “girlfriend” Ghislaine Maxwell was tasked with arranging for young women ostensibly to supply “massages” to Mr. Epstein. Ghislaine Maxwell’s father Robert served Israel for many years and Ghislaine agreed to continue in this tradition. A number of massage providers were booked from time to time to create credibility for the massage story.

Having our brilliant protagonist merely being around beautiful women would offer little leverage. Mistresses and sexual affairs hold limited shock value, and are certainly no reason to compromise an entire nation to cover them up. It was therefore decided that the trap would have to be baited with the youngest of girls, many well under legal age, perhaps barely reaching puberty. These children would have to be acquired as discretely as possible and among those procured; a small number would have to have been previously sexually active so that in the case of eventual disclosure they could be attacked on their character and past activities to cast an aura of doubt about their testimony. The theory they may have lied about their age will be implied.

Mr. Epstein was portrayed as having a proclivity for filming his escapades with these young women, and these recording devices were displayed in a way to be noticeable to the discriminating eye and of a quality befitting a billionaire. The allusion of visibility was a little sleight of hand to imply to guests that these were the only devices present and which were not filming them, unless they were brazen enough as to assume they were untouchable. The comfort of this illusion caused them to lower their guard further.

The sexual activities with these underage girls were of sufficient range so as to severely disturb even the most liberal observer, heightening the nature of the criminal offenses against children. The persons of influence either viewing or participating in these illicit acts were recorded, implicating them having full knowledge of their occurrence. Any conversations and comments they make with anyone on The Ruse set, whether in the homes in New York, Palm Beach, the Virgin Islands, New Mexico, and Paris, France or on the Gulfstream, helicopter, or Boeing were recorded, as was every personal conversation with Jeffrey Epstein in even the most private of settings.

Well after the entire affair was made public and Mr. Epstein was prosecuted, the sense of danger and rebellion persists and young women are still attracted to the Ruse like moths to a flame. A lesson well learned to protect our Jewish girls from the degradation of gentile society.

The Bait

The trap could not be set with money, for be asked and the trail would be too easy is something that has pervasive interest conversations and accusations, all of skills members of our community the courts at all levels prosecution will be and contained.

the reasons discussed. Too many questions would to follow and too hard to hide. However sexuality and there is no trail to follow, other than which will be deflected with the tremendous legal possess. Together with the influence we have in minimal

There is no shortage of underage girls available who can be lured into a world they can only read about in fashion magazines or online sites catering to the world of privilege, wealth and intrigue found in the music and fashion industry. Once these girls are compromised they can easily manipulated for our intended goals.

The Butler Did It

It was necessary to only partially close the jaws of the trap in The Ruse. Mr. Epstein has to remain a constant threat for a period of time until our assets can be placed in positions of influence within the US government, which can only be accomplished with influence at the highest level. To control the targets, now our assets, concerns about their potential for continuing exposure to serious offences must be maintained. This story in the Daily Mail article serves to remind the targets of their potential risks in the event of disclosure.

Alfredo Rodriguez, ostensibly Jeffrey Eckstein's "houseman" was responsible for washing the sex toys "he would find scattered on the floor of Epstein's many houses". DNA swabs from those porous toys reveal the DNA identity of the young girls abused as well as those involved abusing them, beyond Mr. Epstein. These swabs have been analyzed and are on file, matched to their respective owners.

In the Daily Mail article Alfredo Rodriguez discloses his possession of a "black book" which "he referred to as 'The Holy Grail' or 'Golden Nugget' which includes contact details for A-list names including former President Bill Clinton, Mick Jagger, Donald Trump, Earl Spencer, Barbara Walters, Henry Kissinger and at least three members of the Kennedy clan."

The article states "Court papers also reveal that Rodriguez witnessed nude girls whom he believed were underage at the pool area of the home and knew that his former employer was engaging in sexual contact with underage girls and had viewed pornographic images of underage girls on his home computers." The article also notes lawyers say the black book "detailed the full scope and the extent of Epstein's involvement with underage girls."

Not mentioned in the article is how the pornographic images of the underage girls on Jeffrey Epstein's home computers got there, only alluding to our surveillance installation, nor is there an explanation of where the images have gone. However the targets understand the images recorded include them and are very much in play.

The Daily Mail article quotes from court documents that “Epstein required Jane Doe #3 to describe the events that she had with these men so that he could potentially blackmail them,” and “Epstein instructed Jane Doe #3 that she was to give the Prince whatever he demanded and required Jane Doe #3 to report back to him on the details of the sexual abuse. Maxwell facilitated Prince Andrew’s acts of sexual abuse by acting as a "madame" for Epstein, thereby assisting in internationally trafficking Jane Doe #3 (and numerous other young girls) for sexual purposes.”

The implied threat of Mr. Epstein deliberately setting them up for blackmail is just one more point of leverage, as is Alfredo’s claim that “he needed to keep the journal as insurance — as he feared Epstein would make him 'disappear'.”

Alfredo Rodriguez has in fact been “disappeared;” however the entire cache of incriminating information we require is well protected.

Progress

A key objective of this operation was to acquire targets of significant value to Israel. With the upcoming US election, Hillary and Bill Clinton were identified as having significant potential value not only for their past relationship with Israel but also for their willingness to engage in activities that exposed them to compromise.

Israeli intelligence confirmed Hillary and Bill Clinton disregard the integrity of elected office and were willing to leverage all of the powers of that office to protect themselves and their friends from prosecution for their actions. To date they have been very effective at doing so.

Bill Clinton had a continuing interest in sexual dalliance and was vulnerable to The Ruse. Hillary Clinton is running for the office of the President of the United States, bringing significant baggage from her positions in the Obama administration that Israel, supporting organizations and its people in America can assist in resolving.

Psychological analysis suggested Hilary Clinton will do whatever it takes to gain influence and power and is completely oblivious to opinion or criticism. We see this as a significant opportunity to compromise Bill and Hillary Clinton and use our influence to assist in her election. Doing so will then provide significant benefits to Israel, with the President of the United States in our grasp.

